

Paediatric care

For many children and young adults, home health care is much more preferable than being stuck in hospital, a specialist school or a residential home. Although advances in technology and medicine have made home care possible, patients and their families need the right support to make it practical.

Drawing on our ten years of paediatric experience, together with you and your other health professionals, we'll develop a care plan that addresses your child's specific needs. At the same time, we'll make sure it fits in with your family's life.

Our services support a wide range of children and young adults, from those needing only a few hours a week to youngsters with multiple critical care requirements. We begin with a free assessment, introduce the family to carefully matched carers, build continuity and deliver the level of care most suited to your individual needs.

We are committed to:

- Helping to draw up the right care plan
- Offering a flexible service to provide support as and when you need it
- Giving you continuity of service with a familiar team of carers
- Providing specialised services should you need them, for example ventilator care or tracheostomy care and changes.
- Treating your child with dignity and respect
- Working with family, friends and other health care professionals when appropriate
- Helping your child achieve goals and ambitions and fulfil their potential
- Helping your child regain or develop vital skills
- Maximising independence and encouraging integration with other people
- Being contactable 24 hours a day, 365 days a year
